

With over 20 years of remediating unprofessional conduct, PBI Education has gained a unique vantage point to identify and mitigate the risks that commonly lead clinicians down a slippery slope. Our on-demand courses present these risks in an engaging format using real-life scenarios to initiate critical thinking and introspection.

When boards require training on these topics, either through one-time mandates or as a component of the relicensure process, they take action to protect the public from the harms that can result from future professional wrongdoing.
